SCHOOL CODE BILL

County Salary And Local Option the Most Important Measures to Be Considered-Representative Hill's Carnation Resolution.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 27.-Representa tive Crist, of Columbiana, is of the opinion that the final adjournment of the general assembly should not be later than April 4, which would make the session one of the shortest in years. In the absence of special bills there seems to be no good reason why the adjournment should be prolonged beyond this date. Chairman Crofts, of the house finance committee, hopes to get the three preliminary appropriation bills introduced last Thursday afternoon disposed of by the house his week, so that the committee may get to work on the general appropriation bill which provides for all the various departments and institutions of The most important measures intro duced are the Cleveland school code the county salary and ward local option bills. The fate of these measures is a matter of conjecture. The local option bill goes to the temperance committee, composed of Briggs, of Fulton, chairman; Fisher, of Medina; Crist, of Columbiana; Wade, of Hamilton; Kimball, of Lake; Reich, of Cuyahoga; Pumphrey, of Hardin; Helsey, of Ashland; Holmes and Stewart. of Fairfield, the last two being the only Democratic members of the committee. County Salary And Local Option the Most Important Measures to Be Considered-Representative Hill's Carnation Resolution.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 27.-Representa ive Crist, of Columbiana, is of the the general assembly should not be later than April 4, which would make the session one of the shortest in years. In the absence of special bills there seems to be no good reason why the adjournment should be prolonged beyond this date. Chairman Crofts, of the house finance committee, hopes to get the three preliminary appropriation bills introduced last Thursday afternoon disposed of by the house this week, so that the committee may get to work on the general appropriation bill which provides for all the various departments and institutions of The most important measures intro duced are the Cleveland school code, the county salary and ward local op tion bills. The fate of these measures is a matter of conjecture. The local option bill goes to the temperance committee, composed of Briggs, of Ful ton, chairman; Fisher, of Medina; Crist, of Columbiana; Wade, of Hamilton; Kimball, of Lake; Reich, of Cuyahoga; Pumphrey, of Hardin; Helsev. of Ashland: Holmes and Stewart of Fairfield, the last two being the mittee. The action of the committee on the bill will be interesting as it will probably determine what will be done with it. This bill may precipi-

The leading industry of this consular district is porcelain, says United States Commercial Agent Griffin, Limoges, France, and the past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the ceramic art in Limoges. The disposition of the output remains practically the same, viz., five-sixths is exported to the United States. There is hardly another city in Europe where American capital is so extensively invested in its industrial output as in Limoges. All shapes, designs and decorations are gotten up for the market of the United States; every fluctuation or change in that country is carefully noted and felt here.

There is a gradual change taking place in the styles of decorations-decalcomanta, which superseded hand nainting as a cheap method of decorating some years ago, is yielding by degrees to higher and more artistic styles; soft underglaze colors are so applied as to produce fine effects, and it is probably that very soon the leading styles of the best class of goods will be decorated in this manner.

A few changes have been made in the construction of the kilns, and many scientific experiments are being made in some factories, but the practical results have not sufficiently developed yet to guarantee success.

Every year shows that Limoges is more and more dependent upon for a few moments and a severe gash the American trade, and if American was cut on his head, but no serious reporcelain factories were able to supply the domestic trade it is certain that the kilns of Limoges would remain unfired. Nearly every Limoges manufacturer has an agent in the United States, and most of the mannfacturers have houses in New York.

Another Reduction of the State Levy Now Practically Assured.

Right of the Negro to Vote In Ohio. Promotion of Forestry Work. Good Roads Bill Promised. Legislative Matters.

Columbus, Jan. 27.—(Special.)—As Governor Herrick promised in his campaign speeches and in his inaugural address, the excellent policies fostered by the Republican party are being practiced as well as "preached." During the Nash administration the state levy was cut to the bone, and now Governor Herrick and his advisors of the administration are preparing to do a little more sticing. After a consultation with Auditor of State Guilbert, State Treasurer McKinnon, Chairman Crafts of the house finance committee, Chairman Heinlein of the senate finance committee and Speaker Thomas, it was agreed that the state levy could be cut from 1.35 to 1.31 mills. Glittering promises may have their effect on those who cast ballots, but promises alone do not win elections. Long-winded arguments on the right side of a political question may gain some support, but after all that may be said and promised, it is the party that "does things" which scores a victory in the battle of ballots. There is no denying that the Republican party has made glowing promises, and again, it cannot be denied that every-

While the negro is allowed to vote in Olio, as in every other state in the seion, it is not known generally that the constitution of this state particularly forbids a negro from voting. Representative George A. Bassett of Toledo may not be a misogynist, but he appears to be deeply affected by the wrongs done to men by their wives.

He introuced a bill in the house to require wives to contribute to the support of indigent husbands. If the wife has money and the husband has not, and if he cannot earn any, Bassett thinks the man should have a right to some of his wife's. The bill does not one of them has been kept. In his inaugural address Governor Herrick said that forestry work who loves the "spreading elm," he who admires a forest because of its ist who wants the rains conserved, all good one. Acting on the cue given by the governor, W. I. Chamberlain, president, and W. R. Lazenby, secretary, of the state forestry commission, have appointed a committee to urge the general assembly to liberally support the college of agriculture of the Ohio State university, in order that its facilities for teaching practical forestry may be extended, as well as to provide for such work at the Ohio agricultural experiment station as may be necessary to demonstrate the practicability of growing useful timber trees, especially upon the deforested areas in the hilly counties of the state.

The partial appropriation bill introduced in the house just before adfournment for the week, by Chairman Crafts of the finance committee, is $100,000 less than the similar measure of two years ago. This is merely another evidence of the administration's desire to cut down expenditures. Chairman Crafts also introduced the deficiency bill (emergencies allowed since the last session), $84,472.97, and the liability bill, $70,402.12.

These amounts are significant only in comparison with the sums carried by similar measures two year ago. The liability bill carries the expenses of the governor's inauguration, immediate compensation of the new posttion of quartermaster general, fuel for the state capitol, clothing for the national guard, expenses of the depart ments and institutions, that were incurred wihout formal emergency proceedings but in pursuance of law, and not properly creditable to the partial the full name. 25c. appropriations bill. Governor Herrick was favorably impressed with the idea and it will be carried out. As a result of the expressions therein adduced a good roads bill will be prepared.

Senator Austin of Toledo introduced a bill in the senate providing that the agricultural societies in the various counties of the state shall be under the control of boards of managers to be elected at the coming fall election, and to consist of two members from each township, one member to be elected for one year one for two years. Mr. Austin says his purpose is to get back to the old-fashioned county fairs. The measure is not meeting with popular favor. "Old-fashioned" fairs are not common nowadays because "oldfashioned" people are not interested enough to bring out the "old-fashioned" exhibits to make the fairs "oldfashioned" successes. The trouble does not lie with the management of clean and there won't be any grease fairs if (there is trouble) but with the change of tastes of patrons.

LIMOGES WARE.

The leading industry of this consular district is porcelain, says United States Commercial Agent Griffin, Limoges, France, and the past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the ceramic art in Limoges. The disposition of the output remains practically the same, viz. five-sixths is exported to the United States. There is hardly another city in Europe wher American capital is so extensively invested in its industrial output as in Limoges. All shapes, designs and decorations are gotten up for the market of the United States; every fluctuation or change in that country is carefully noted and felt here. There is a gradual change taking

Right of the Negro to Vote In Ohlo. Promotion of Forestry Work. Good Roads Bill Promised. Legislative Matters.

Columbus, Jan. 27.—(Special.)—As Governor Herrick promised in his campaign speeches and in his inaugural address, the excellent policies Eastern Railroad company, part of fostered by the Republican party are being practiced as well as "preached." ot 6 in Noah Blosser's addition to Lee- During the Nash administration the state levy was cut to the bone, and now Governor Herrick and his adot 86 in second continuation of John visors of the administration are pre-Nicholson's second addition to Wells- paring to do a little more sticing. After a consultation with Auditor of State Robert Scott to Coll Rymer, tract in Guilbert, State Treasurer McKinnon, Chairman Crafts of the house finance Noah Pugh to James Fleming, lot committee, Chairman Heinlein of the senate finance committee and Speaker Thomas, it was agreed that the state levy could be cut from 1.35 to 1.31

Glittering promises may have their effect on those who cast ballots, but promises alone do not win elections. Long-winded arguments on the right side of a political question may gain some support, but after all that may be said and promised, it is the party that "does things" which scores a victory in the battle of ballots. There is no denying that the Republican party has made glowing promises, and again, it cannot be denied that every-

However be it, the expected trouble-which sort of developed into panic-resulted in the election of a first-class majority. At the outset, it was prophesied by the helpless minority that the Republican majority was sc large that it would be unwieldy and could not be handled by the administration. It develops that the mafority will be most tractable, although it will not "kow-tow" to the unreasonable demands of anybody.

. . . While the negro is allowed to vote in Olio, as in every other state in the exion, it is not known generally that the constitution of this state particularly forbids a negro from voting. The attention of the legislature was called to this when Representative Eubanks, the colored member from Cleveland, presented a joint resolution providing for the submission to the people of an amendment to the Ohio constitution, cutting out the "white male" restriction in Section 1, Arti-

> The doctors' fight on patent medicines was renewed in the house when Representative Roll of Warren county introduced a bill to tax the sale of natent medicines. He proposes to tax manufacturers $500 a year and retailers $50 a year, if the medicine contains more than 10 per cent, of alcohol. It is not likely that the bill will become a law, for the people look upon such legislation as an abridgement of their rights. Representative George A. Bassett of Toledo may not be a misogynist, but he appears to be deeply affected by the wrongs done to men by their wives.

He introuced a bill in the house to require wives to contribute to the support of indigent husbands. If the wife has money and the husband has not, and if he cannot earn any, Bassett thinks the man should have a right to some of his wife's. The bill does not one of them has been kept. Herrick said that forestry work in Ohio, which has been abandoned for so long, should be resumed. The man who loves the "spreading elm." he who admires a forest because of its marketable timber and the agriculturist who wants the rains conserved, all I was about to throw down the even will agree that the suggestion is a ing paper when I saw an item in the good one. Acting on the cue given by the governor, W. I. Chamberlain, president, and W. R. Lazenby, secretary, of the state forestry commission, have appointed a committee to urge the general assembly to liberally support the college of agriculture of the Ohio State university, in order that its facilities for teaching practical forestry may be extended, as well as to provide for such work at the Ohio agricultural experiment station as may be necessary to demonstrate the practicability of growing useful timber trees, especially upon the deforested areas in the hilly counties of the state.

The partial appropriation bill introduced in the house just before adjournment for the week, by Chairman Crafts of the finance committee, is $100,000 less than the similar measure of two years ago. This is merely another evidence of the administration's desire to cut down expenditures Chairman Crafts also introduced the deficiency bill (emergencies allowed since the last session), $84,472.97, and the liability bill. $70,402.12.

These amounts are significant only in comparison with the sums carried by similar measures two year ago. The liability bill carries the expenses of the governor's inauguration, immediate compensation of the new posttion of quartermaster general, fuel for the state capitol, clothing for the national guard, expenses of the departments and institutions, that were incurred wihout formal emergency proceedings but in pursuance of law, and not properly creditable to the partial appropriations bill. There was no such bill two years ago.

turnpikes, conferred with Governor Herrick regarding the calling of a good roads convention within the coming month to discuss in general the road building proposition.

Governor Herrick was favorably impressed with the idea and it will be carried out. As a result of the expressions therein adduced a good roads bill will be prepared.

Senator Austin of Toledo introduced a bill in the senate providing that the agricultural societies in the various counties of the state shall be under the control of boards of managers to be elected at the coming fall election, and to consist of two members from each township, one member to be elected for one year one for two years. Mr. Austin says his purpose is to get back to the old-fashioned county fairs. The measure is not meeting with popular favor. "Old-fashioned" fairs are not common nowadays because "oldfashioned" people are not interested enough to bring out the "old-fashioned" exhibits to make the fairs "oldfashioned" successes. The trouble does not lie with the management of fairs if (there is trouble) but with the change of tastes of patrons.

President Rocsevelt told the good roads convention delegates some profound truths in a few words. "The road," said he, "is the symbol of civilization. Throughout our country our citizens will have to turn their energies to improving the roads between community and community, because we are civilized people and we cannot afford to have barbaric methods of communication." Our nation is no longer young, nor can it afford to tolerate the transportation facilities our forefathers had to put up with. There is no necessity that it should. A general awakening on the road question and intelligent effort to promote scientific road building will do more to advance general prosperity than any thing else our people can undertake.

The fear, expressed in some circles in Washington, that the United States may possibly be drawn into the conflict between Japan and Russia, if a conflict comes, is needless. There is not the faintest cause for any apprehension. We will not take a hand in the conflict, no matter how far it may extend, providing a contest comes. American sympathies are with Japan. We recognize that in the fight Japan would be helping us as well as herself. Our interest, however, in this issue is not vital enough to impel us to fight for it if Russia should disregard her promise. We are not seeking any special privileges for ourselves. The open door which we seek is to be open to all the world on the same conditions.

Senator Morgan's bill for the annexation of Panama has been taken seriously by the European press and the proposition is denounced as another illustration of the grasping propensities of the United States. Many papers are urging Colombia to declare war instantly on this country. Their editors do not understand statesmen of the Morgan type.

> Ohio now has township and municipal local option and will probably soon have ward local option. Temperance legislation cannot be carried much further, without absolute prohibition; and even now every man has an undisputed right to establish that for himself.

The state inspector's last report shows that the mining law was complied with at Cheswick, Pa. That being the case, more law would seem to be an imperative necessity.

The people of this country spend about $15,000,000 a year for reading matter and about a hundred times as much for strong drink.

AT THE THEATER

The secret of the popularity of "Damon and Pythias" is, that unlike most classic plays it is not above the heads of the average audience. Indianapolis was chosen for the convention next year, and President Mitchell. Vice President Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer Wilson were declared unanimously re-elected.

Illusions of the Theater.

It is a moot point whether women should be taken to the theater at all at a young and impressionable age, seeing in what a totally unreal light the modern young man is presented by the average dramatist. Behind the footlights the handsome, clean shaven fellow has principles as unimpencipable as his principles as unimpeachable as his dress clothes, a soul as speckless as his dazzling waistcoat.-London Ladies'

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1904.

President Rocsevelt told the good roads convention delegates some profound truths in a few words. "The road," said he, "is the symbol of civilization. Throughout our country our citizens will have to turn their energies to improving the roads between community and community, because we are civilized people and we cannot afford to have barbaric methods of communication." Our nation is no longer young, nor can it afford to tolerate the transportation facilities our forefathers had to put up with. There is no necessity that it should. A general awakening on the road question and intelligent effort to promote scientific road building will do more to advance general prosperity than anything else our people can undertake

The fear, expressed in some circles in Washington, that the United States may possibly be drawn into the conflict between Japan and Russia, if a conflict comes, is needless. There is not the faintest cause for any apprehension. We will not take a hand in the conflict, no matter how far it may extend, providing a contest comes. American sympathies are with Japan. We recognize that in the fight Japan would be helping us as well as herself. Our interest, however, in this issue is not vital enough to impel us to fight for it if Russia should disregard her promise. We are not seeking any special privileges for ourselves. The open door which we seek is to be open to all the world on the same conditions.

Senator Morgan's bill for the annexation of Panama has been taken seriously by the European press and the proposition is denounced as another illustration of the grasping propensites of the United States. Many papers are urging Colombia to declare war in stantly on this country. Their editors do not understand statesmen of the Morgan type.

Whitaker Wright, promoter, got millions by fraud, and when confronted by the consequences of his ill-doing -a long term in prison-committed suicide. That was in England. In this country he would probably have been elected to congress and been honored and envied.

Ohio now has township and municipal local option and will probably soon have ward local option. Temperance legislation cannot be carried much further, without absolute prohibition; and even now every man has an undisputed right to establish that for himself

The state inspector's last report shows that the mining law was complied with at Cheswick. Pa. That being the case, more law would seem to be an imperative necessity.

The people of this country spend about $15,000,000 a year for reading matter and about a hundred times as much for strong drink.

AT THE THEATER

The secret of the popularity of "Da mon and Pythias" is, that unlike most classic plays it is not above the heads of the average audience. The story of the play is intensely interesting, the language is simple but forcible, and the play goes with a swing that holds the close attention of the audience from beginning to end. F. R. MINERS CONVENTION.

Will Draft Memorial

Harwick Miners. Indianapolis, Jan. 27 .- The United Mine Workers have completed the work of the fifteenth annual convention. Having no more committee reports or matters of importance to consider before meeting the operators in the joint wage conference, the convention adjourned. The convention will receive the report of a committee appointed to draft a memorial on the death of the 200 Redemption fund with U.S. Treasurer, (5 per cent of circulation). miners in the Harwick mine explosion at Cheswick, Pa. The news of the disaster caused gloom in the convention session, especially among the delegations from Central and Western Undivided profits, less expenses Pennsylvania. Many had friends among the miners employed in the Harwick mine.

The joint wage conferences generally last about one week. It is thought Demand certificates of deposit that it will take that long this year to reach an agreement over the demands for the run-of-mine basis and Indiana, all the Western Pennsylvania district, and for the Hocking Valley in Ohio and the Danville district in Illinois, as the bases for those two states. The operators will make the assertion that while the miners are not asking for an increase in the mining scale now in effect, the run-of-mine basis and the differential of 7 cents flat would mean a heavy increase.

Indianapolis was chosen for the convention next year, and President Secretary-Treasurer Wilson were declared unanimously re-elected.

Illusions of the Theater.

It is a moot point whether women should be taken to the theater at all at a young and impressionable age, seeing in what a totally unreal light the modern young man is presented by the average dramatist. Behind the footlights the handsome, clean shaven fellow has principles as unimpeachable as his dress clothes, a soul as speckless as his dazzling waistcoat.-London Ladies'

The approaching trip of city officials nuesne Construction company and its onsulting engineers relative to the construction of the new plant, means much to Wellsville. It is stated upon authority that not less than $24,000 will be needed to complete the conract with the Duquesne Construction company of Pittsburg. There are no funds available for the water works lepartment for this purpose, and as there have been some changes in the riginal drawings, a change in the cost was also made.

Comparatively little damage was occasioned to the new work on the pump station, although it will require some time to clean out the tunnel. Only a portion of the latter has been compleed and for a short distance at that.

A detailed report of the funds reguired to complete the construction is expected to be made before council within a fortnight.

Mary Magdalene's Grave.

Fifteen thousand pilgrims annually visit St. Baume, in Provence, not far from Marseilles, where Mary Magdalene is said to have spent the last thir ty years of her life.

The legend, according to the Nouvelle Revue, runs that Mary Magdalene came from Judæa in a small boat with Lazarus, Martha, the two Marys and Salome, bringing with them the body of St. Anne, the head of St. James the Less and a few wee bones of the innocents massacred by King Herod. But from early ages this story has been disputed, and the Abbe Duchesne, one of the most erudite writers on the early Christian saints and martyrs, considers that the relics of Mary Magdelene were probably sent from Constantinople about the seventh century. A Greek breviary, however, speaks of the saint as having died at Ephesus.

in beating the Pennsylvania aggrega- traordinary. tion at Rock Springs last night by a resent the East Liverpool lineup:

The Allegheny boys were crippled by the absence of Siebel and Hay, who were unable to play on account of injuries received in recent games at home. The game was a very close one until late in the latter half when East Liverpool took a spurt and made victory certain by a series of brilliant plays. In the form the local men played last night it is doubtful if they could be beaten by any one, as it was said by some of the best posted spectators the team was positively invincible all the way through.

W. Powell and Tom Watkin were both out of the game on account of bad form from injuries, and Dick Watkin was substituted. This compelled Bloor to play both halves and forward. The changes in the lineup were so radical that some apprehension was felt. dispelled when the locals settled down to steady work. Watkin played a good, hard game, his defense work being of the highest order. The other players goal shooting on the Liverpool side oughly. was even better than had been expected and was enthusiastically applauded

Cunningham was the first inspector over the ground and spent the greater part of the night in the mine. Early in the morning, after snatching a few hours' sleep, he went below again, and after directing the movements of the volunteer force in bratticing so as to keep back the dangerous gas in front, finally announced that he was ready to lead a searching party back

The rescuers went back for many feet, but when they came to the surface they had no tidings of living men still entombed. Up and down went the bucket in the bitter cold. Men clambered from the icy elevator, dashed to the nearby engine room and then when warmed back to the bucket and down the shaft.

Then began the rigging of the platform cage. Six hours' work on a wooden platform to take the debris and the dead from the abyss. At 7 o'clock the cage had not started on its first trip. Coroner McGeary of Allegheny county is here and he had several consultations with the officials as to the disposition of the dead and the bringing of the bodies to the surface as soon as found, and after a careful survey of the situation he said:

"There will be no delay in the bringing of the bodies to the surface as soon as found and no unseemly strife among undertakers about taking the bodies away. Proper identifications will be made as far as possible and as full and complete a list as possible made public."

Two places are already prepared to eceive the dead. The school house is ready for use as a morgue and another building belonging to the company near the entrance to the shaft is also in readiness. The two buildings are already designated as morgues, because no one who knows the story believes that a doctor's aid will be necessary except perhaps for some of the survivors.

While the chattering, shivering group of workers and newspaper men were gathered about the ropes and the red faces of the four Pittsburg policemen on duty at the ropes spoke eloquently of the cold, one bright incident occurred that took away for a moment the gruesome aspect of the

RHEUMATISM

NOT A SKIN DISEASE.

It is natural to rub the spot that hurts, and when rheumatic pains are shooting through the joints and muscles and they are inflamed and sore, the sufferer is apt to turn to liniments and plasters for relief; and while such treatment may quiet the pain temporarily, no amount of rubbing or blistering can cure Rheumatism, because it is not a skin disease, but is in the blood and all through the system, and every time you are exposed to the same conditions that caused the first attack, you are going to have another, and Rheumatism will last just as long as the poison is in the blood, no matter what you apply externally. Sidney, Ohio, August 26, 1903.

A few months ago I was feeling weak and run down and unable to get aleep at night. I felt extremely bad, and also had rheumatic pains in my joints and muscles. The medicine I used gave me only temporary relief at best; so seeing S. S. highly recommended for such troubles, I began its use, and after taking it for some time was well pleased with the result. It did away with the rheumatic pains, gave me refreshing sleep and built up my general system, giving me strength and energy. It is a good medicine, without a doubt, and I take pleasure in endorsing it.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST MINING FIRM

Sum of $10,000 Asked For a Boy's Death-Both Sides Allege Carelessness.

Lisbon, January 27. - (Special.) -The $10,000 damage suit of Oscar E. Nulf, as administrator of the estate of Roy Nulf, against the Fairfield Coal company, of New Waterford, came on for trial this morning. Young Nulf came to his death through an accident in the defendant company's mine in which he was employed, the accident being ascribed to the negligence of the company. Nulf, who was 16 at the time of his death, on January 19, a year ago, was employed as a trip boy, having in charge a string of small cars which were drawn in and out of the mine by a cable, the momentum of cars propelling cars going in an opposite direction.

Nulf was riding the front end of a threw the front car off the track, landing him in front. He was horribly crushed. The plaintiff charges neglicondition of the rail was well known future. and it was negligently allowed to remain in place.

The defendant company, answering, holds it was not necessary for the boy to occupy the perilous position on the R. W. Sample & Co. front of the car, and that the superintendent did not know he was there. It is further alleged the boy had been warned, and that the accident was due to his disobedience.

MINER TELLS THRILLING STORY

One of Volunteer Party Who Nearly Lost His Life Tells of Death of Brave Companion in Desperate Venture in the Mine.

Cheswick, Pa., Jan. 27.-Thomas W. who went to his death in the Cheswick mine, tells this story of Taylor's tragic death:

"I entered the mine with Taylor, McCann, North and Horwat. On reaching the bottom of the shaft we found Edward Gunia.

"Following the air current, we started up the track. When we had traversed about half of the track Taylor sent North back for a plan of the mines, and he, Horwat and I entered the south main heading through which sake get him. Horwat is in the overthe air current passed. Our passage was blocked by dead mules and fallen walls, and at the entrance to the south main heading we found the body of a man without arms or head.

"Passing a caved-in overcast, where we stopped for consultation, we passed the overcast and reached the first right heading. The firedamp was getting worse and I said to Mr. Taylor:

'We had better turn back; the damp is getting too heavy and we are not acquainted with the mines.' He refused to return, and after again testing the air current, said: 'Well, son; we will go this way.' "We went up to the first right heading and came to an overcast which, after careful examination, we found closed and safe. Two hundred feet further we struck the main south heading air course, the air current being toward the bottom of the mine. in the kingdom dined simultaneously in "After 25 feet I said: 'We had better turn back; you are getting over-

A Great Old Castle. Raby castle, the seat of Lord Bar-

It remains today as it stood in the days when the barons for whose entertainment it was fashioned were almost the paramount power in the land. Seven hundred of the mightiest and noblest this hall when the warlike Nevilles were established at Raby castle. The ancient chamber is good for as many Xxxxxxxxxxxxx today, and there is accommodation enough for the cooking. The kitchen is a square of thirty feet, with an oven so vided into ten parts, each side holding a hogshead of wine in bottles.

Sisterly Devotion.

The beautiful Margaret of Navarre was devoted to her brother, Francis I. ing, where I was forced to leave him, When he was apparently dying at Madrid, she found her way to him through privation and danger and succeeded in effecting his deliverance. When he was ill at a distance from her, she went every day and sat down on a stone in the middle of the road to catch the first glimpse of a messenger afar off. And she said: "Ah, whoever shall come to announce the recovery of the king, my brother, though he be tired, jaded, soiled, disheveled, I will kiss him and embrace him as though he were the finest gentleman in the kingdom." When he died she seemed literally heartbroken, and she did not long survive him.

The Sturdy Camel. A camel has twice the carrying power of an ox. With an ordinary load of 400 pounds he can travel twelve or fourteen days without water, going forty miles a day. Camels are fit to work at five years old, but their strength begins to decline at twenty-five, although they usually live to forty. The Tartars have herds of these animals, often 1,000, belonging to one family. They were numerous in antiquity, for the patriarch Job had 3,000. The Timbuktu or Meharri breed is remarkable for speed and used only for couriers, going 800 miles in eight days with a meal of dates or grain at nightfall.

MINER TELLS THRILLING STORY

One of Volunteer Party Who Nearly Lost His Life Tells of Death of Brave Companion in Desperate Venture in the Mine.

Cheswick, Pa., Jan. 27.—Thomas W. Wood, who was with Engineer Taylor. who went to his death in the Cheswick mine, tells this story of Taylor's tragic death:

"I entered the mine with Taylor, McCann, North and Horwat. On reaching the bottom of the shaft we found Edward Gunia.

"Following the air current, we started up the track. When we had traversed about half of the track Taylor sent North back for a plan of the the south main heading through which sake get him. Horwat is in the overthe air current passed. Our passage was blocked by dead mules and fallen walls, and at the entrance to the south main heading we found the body me and go back to get the others. Mcof a man without arms or head.

"Passing a caved-in overcast, where we stopped for consultation, we passed the overcast and reached the first right heading. The firedamp was getting worse and I said to Mr. Taylor: 'We had better turn back; the damp is getting too heavy and we are not acquainted with the mines.' He refused to return, and after again testing the air current, said: son; we will go this way.' "We went up to the first right heading and came to an overcast which, after careful examination, we found closed and safe. Two hundred feet further we struck the main south heading air course, the air current being toward the bottom of the mine. "After 25 feet I said: 'We had bet-

"Seeing Taylor was done I seized Horwat, who was almost unconscious, and dragged him back to the overcast, where I was forced to leave him. I started back to the foot of the shaft to get help, but, being dazed by the afterdamp and excited as I ran into the main south heading, I turned to the right instead of to the left, as I should have done, and went as far as the sixth lead heading, a distance of about 600 feet.

"I came to a curtain which had been blown down, and on the left hand side of the curtain saw two men lying in six inches of water. I recognized them to be Chris Bowser and Harvey Rutter, two of the imprisoned miners. I called to them, 'Are you alive, boys?' and received a faint cry in answer.

"Finding I was going in the wrong direction, I turned and made my way back to the foot of the shaft as fast as possible. When I reached the fifth left heading I gave out and fell down, giving a cry for help. Luckily Mc-Cann and North, who were following us with the map Mr. Taylor had asked for, heard my cry and saw my light. They dragged me to the top of the main south overcast and revived mc. When I came to I said: 'Boys, Taylor is in the first right heading, about 100 feet down the main south air mines, and he, Horwat and I entered course, toward the bottom. For God's cast of the first right heading.

"They took me to the bottom of the shaft and I again told them to leave Cann said: 'You must go to the top for you are about gone now.'

"I was taken up in the bucket and carried to the engine room, where I was cared for. I reached the top at about 6:35 o'clock.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST MINING FIRM

Sum of $10,000 Asked For a Boy's Death-Both Sides Allege

Lisbon, January 27. - (Special.) -The $10,000 damage suit of Oscar E. Nulf, as administrator of the estate of Roy Nulf, against the Fairfield Coal company, of New Waterford, came on for trial this morning. Young Nulf came to his death through an accident in the defendant company's mine in which he was employed, the accident being ascribed to the negligence of the company. Nulf, who was 16 at the time of his death, on January 19, a year ago, was employed as a trip boy, having in charge a string of small cars which were drawn in and out of the mine by a cable, the momentum of cars propelling cars going in an oppo-
